Here are the letters used in Roman numerals and the numbers they stand for:

M = 1,000
C = 100
L = 50
X = 10
V = 5
I = 1

The letters line up large to small, left to right, and you add them up: LXXV = 50+10+10+5 = 75. If a letter is out of order – such as a C in front of an M – subtract it from the larger number to the right: CM = 900, XL = 40, IV = 4.
